Lifenet to Offer Insurance Products with Maximum Age at Issue of 80 in June 2026
Applied to term life insurance, whole-life medical insurance and whole-life cancer insurance

TOKYO, May 13, 2026 – LIFENET INSURANCE COMPANY (TSE Prime 7157, President Junpei Yokozawa, URL: <https://ir.lifenet-seimei.co.jp/en/>) announces that it will raise the maximum age at issue for its products from the current 70 to 80, scheduled for June 2026. This change applies to term life insurance, whole-life medical insurance and whole-life cancer insurance. In addition, Lifenet will expand coverage options by increasing the variations of the minimum insurance amount for each product, enabling senior customers to choose plans with affordable premiums.

To deliver "The Ultimate Insurance Experience" to all customers who have intention of purchasing online, Lifenet will raise the maximum age at issue and expand coverage options for its main products.

Furthermore, this product revision will make it easier for existing Lifenet policyholders to flexibly review their coverage as their life stages evolve. They will be able to select the newly reduced minimum coverage amount regardless of age when applying for additional coverage or switching to whole-life medical insurance or whole-life cancer insurance. Also, existing policyholders of these products will have broader choices when decreasing their sum insured due to the reduced minimum coverage amount.
